Chris Rexworthy to speak at Infoline's 'Identifying & Applying Best Practice Approaches to Hedge Fund Operational Risk and Compliance' Conference

In today's volatile markets investors and regulators are seeking greater assurances regarding hedge funds' operational controls. This timely conference will help you demonstrate that robust compliance risk management underpins your investment strategy, and will benefit compliance, legal, risk, operations, internal audit and finance specialists from the hedge fund sector.

Chris Rexworthy will be sharing his expertise on 'Meeting the Compliance Challenges of New Hybrid Fund Structures' at the conference which is taking place from the 28-29th November 2007 in central London. We are pleased to announce that as an IMS contact you will receive a 20% discount, should you wish to attend.

The main conference (28 November), at which Chris is speaking, includes presentations from Regulators, Hedge Funds, Administrators and Compliance Advisers. Speakers will illustrate the latest approaches to Valuations, ICAAP, Principles-Based Regulation, MiFID, Conflicts of Interest and SEC Litigation Risk.

This event also includes a separately bookable post conference workshop (29 November). The workshop drills down on practical techniques for mitigating key legal and strategic risks for hedge funds.
